DEXTEROUS WITH A RAZOR.

Clothes of Two Patrolmen Damaged by Reuben A. Humphrey.

Patrolmen Jones and Admire had an experience with Reuben A. Humphrey yesterday morning, and they almost had to walk to roll call in a barrel. During the night Jones and Admire put their rubbeer coats in a restaurant after the rain was over. When they returned for them they were told by the proprietor that the coats had been stolen by Humphrey. The policemen found Humphrey about 4 o'clock, but he did not have the coats. He was ar rested on a charge of petit larceny. While they were waiting for the patrol wagon Humphrey pulled out a razor and cut the blue blouses of the two officers until they hung in shreds. He did his work with such dexterity that the damage was not discovered until they had placed him in the wagon. As they raised their arms they found their coats dangling loosely around their arms. Humphrey handled his weapon in such a manner as not to cut through to the Large Movement of Empty Cars-Ri mors that Rockefeller Seeks Control in the Southwest.

As was the case last month freight traffic continues in excess of corresponding periods of former years not only in loaded-car movement, but in tonnage per car, as all roads have learned the value of space in a car and are loading freights more systematically. It is stated that a train of thirtyber of cars five years ago, and of lower class freights 15 to 20 per cent, more. This is brought about through the introduction | State Express. The distance, 442 miles, is of cars of 80,000 to 100,000 pounds capacity. In the higher class freights the increase in tonnage per car is not so marked as in lower class, such as heavy groceries, iron and steel products, ore and coal, which now are important items in freight moved. The miscellaneous character of the freights now carried is spoken of as being a remarkable feature in transportation. Like conditions never before existing, due to the prosperity of all industries of the country, which increases from month to month rather than diminishes. This is illustrated in the business of furniture, carriage and harvest and farming implement manufacturers, anly only in grain shipments has there been any falling off as compared with the most prosperous times. Stockyards and packing houses are doing about their usual amount of shipping, and this has fully offset the lighter grain movement. The business of the iron and steel industries is an important factor in traffic and yearly increasing, and trainloads of fruits and vegetables of Southern growth are shipped to Northern markets daily. This business has largely increased the traffic of the north-and-south lines, which history. Recent traffic shows no falling off, & O.

TOO REALISTIC FOR HIS WIFE.

"Shine" Stanley Showed Her How He Acts in a Prize Fight. "Shine" Stanley, who has appeared in the prize ring in this city on several occasions, was arrested yesterday by Patrolman Gillispie, charged with assaulting his wife. Stanley lives some times at 614 West Court street, where his wife resides. He called there yesterday and his wife greeted him in her best raiment. Stanley was imbued with a great idea concerning his ability to fight, and began to show off realistically. He is soon to appear in a bout with another negro up the State, and while average rate of speed a fraction under 46 he was telling his wife how he was going to whip the other men she laughed at him. The best soldier on the field of batle is the one who has the most friends and is the best loved at home. The same is true of all rational minds who, comprehending the significance, are battling with the temptations and trials of everyday life. We cannot fail to note in all these declarations the prominence given to charity. The great apostle said: "Though. speak with the tongues of men and of angels and have not charity I am become as a sounding brass and a tinkling cymbal.' And after giving a clear and eloquent definition of this virtue he concludes: "And now abideth faith, hope and charity, but the greatest of these is charity." Greater than hope, which "springs eternal in the human breast" and urges us on when doubt ance to grim despair-hope which the holy writ teaches is the "anchor to the soul sure and steadfast;" greater than faith. which is the very basis of all human thought and action, which brings in her reserve forces when hope weakens, and is declared to be the very "substance of things | 1 calf, 19c; No. 2 calf, 8%c. hoped for and the evidence of things not seen." Such is the charity that "rejoiceth not in iniquity, but rejoiceth in the truth." This is the foundation principle of fraternity. And the results on the social, moral, intellectual and spiritual development of the race are beyond estimate. The very presence of this great assemblage is conclusive that charity, which is but a synonym of love, is doing its perfect work.
